Secretary of State Leaves As Assembly Votes To Create Special Atomic Commission

BALLOT IS UNANIMOUS

BULLETIN
London, Jan. 24—(P)—Secretary of State Byrnes left London for Washington today by plane.

London, Jan. 24—(P)—The United Nations General Assembly voted unanimously today for the creation of a special atomic energy commission, urged by U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes as necessary to save the world from atomic armaments race.

The action came after little more than an hour of discussion during which both Byrnes and chief Soviet delegate, Andrei Vishinsky, urged prompt action.

The vote was 47 to 0, with four nations abstaining.

Almost simultaneously the World Security Council announced that it would meet tomorrow to consider complaints involving Iran, Greece and Indonesia.

The complaints, providing the basis for the first major tests of the UN's machinery to settle disputes, will be considered at 3 p. m. The commission would have no power to compel the United States or any other country to disclose any of its atomic energy production secrets or disclose how the atomic bomb is made, according to interpretations given by Byrnes.

Its responsibility will be to work out ways of keeping atomic energy from being used destructively.

It will be composed of representatives of the 11 nations on the Security Council and Canada, and will be responsible to the council for its work and policies.

Byrnes opened the general assembly debate on the proposal.

The United States entered an armaments race during the war. "Not to destroy but to save civilization," Byrnes said. He added that "if the race continues uncontrolled the civilization we hoped to save may be destroyed."

Andrei Vishinsky, chief Russian delegate who arrived Tuesday from Moscow, made his first appearance before the assembly in support of the atomic commission plan.

He called it a "sound and realistic approach to the problem" and the "first important act of the joint efforts of the United Nations" (Turn to Page Thirteen)

SHUTTLE RAILROADS OPERATING NORMALLY

Chicago, Jan. 24—(P)—Chicago's three shuttle railroads, a vital link in handling of through freight for 21 converging major railroads, were reported by a company official to be operating normally today after last-minute arbitration averted a threatened strike.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen called off its strikes by 1,500 trainmen last night 25 minutes before the strike zero hour—set for 10:30 o'clock (Central Standard Time).

The walkout was cancelled after union officials and representatives of the railroads reached an agreement on issues in the dispute. The Brotherhood had called the strike in protest of what it termed contract violations.

LOS ANGELES HUSBAND DENIES MURDER CHARGE

Los Angeles, Jan. 24—(P)—Steadfastly maintaining his innocence of any connection with the death of Arthur Eggers was back in the county jail today after a trip to San Bernardino, where he qualified the body of a headless, handless woman as that of his wife.

Capt. Gordon Bowers of the sheriff's homicide detail said Eggers, booked on suspicion of murder, will be subjected to further questioning today, although two days of almost continuous grilling failed to alter his claim that he knows nothing of the case beyond the fact his wife disappeared.

Navy Raises Curtain On Its Plans For Testing Atomic Bomb Against Fighting Ships

By WILLIAM A. KINNEY

Washington, Jan. 24—(P)—The Navy raised the curtain today on its plans for testing the atomic bomb against a great armada of fighting ships—an experiment expected to revolutionize sea warfare.

A guinea pig fleet of 97 vessels, ranging from carriers and battleships, submarines and transports to an assortment of smaller craft such as landing ships, will be the atomic target in the vast operation to start in May.

The laboratory selected is the anchorage of Bikini atoll, one of the northernmost of the Marshall Islands which were wrested from Japan by amphibious assault two years ago.

Vice Adm. W. H. P. Blandy, head of the navy's division on special weapons, ticked off for the senate atomic energy committee these details of the epochal experiment, known by the codeword "operation crossroads":

1. In the target fleet will be 50 operating ships—two aircraft carriers, four battleships, two cruisers, 15 destroyers, eight submarines and 15 transports from U. S. fleets, plus a German navy cruiser, a Japanese battleship and light cruiser—and 47 of other craft such as landing ships.

2. The undertaking "is not a combined or international operation, but rather a scientific experiment by the United States government alone." The question of permitting foreign observers has not yet been decided.

3. The unnamed target ships "will be anchored and placed in a manner calculated to give effects varying from probable destruction to negligible damage" in each type.

4. The first test, early in May, calls for detonating an atomic bomb at an altitude of several hundred feet above the target vessels. A second test, tentatively set for July 1, will be an atomic burst at the water's surface in the target area.

5. A deep water test in the open sea is planned later, but technical difficulties preclude its coming off this year.

6. "Task force one"—a fleet of 50 additional U. S. Navy ships with a complement of 20,000 men—will set up the experiment and make arrangements for recording its results by all modern scientific techniques.

Blandy, who has been named commander for the entire test by the joint chiefs of staff, revealed that some of the best-known units of the U. S. fleet had been marked for target vessels.

In his statement prepared for the atomic committee, Blandy described the purpose of the experiment as "primarily to determine the effects of the atomic bomb upon naval vessels in order to gain (Turn to Page Thirteen)

Execution Of 29,000 Laid To Nazi Leaders

By JOSEPH DYNAN

Nuernberg, Jan. 24—(P)—France charged today that the Nazis executed at least 29,000 innocent hostages in their occupation of the fallen republic.

Charles Dubost, the French prosecutor, made the accusation before the international military tribunal and attributed prime responsibility to Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel and former Reichsmarshal Hermann Goerring. They are two of the leading 22 Nazis on trial as war criminals.

Another defendant, Baron Constantin von Neurath, former foreign minister and "protector" of Bohemia and Moravia, was called Hitler's "handiest tool" in German plans for conquest. The British demanded his conviction as a war criminal.

Dubost said Keitel, who was head of the German high command, levied harsh measures against the resistance movements which the marshal termed "Communist activity." He said Keitel negotiated foreign office efforts to obtain clemency and quoted this letter:

"Therefore, the most severe measures ought to be taken in occupied territories. In the future, the death penalty should in general be carried out."

Dubost accused Keitel of ordering 50 to 100 French Communists to be shot for each German killed in France, and said similar instructions to seize and execute hostages were sent to commanders in Belgium, Norway, Holland, Denmark, the Ukraine, Serbia and Greece.

The military tribunal ordered further postponement of the individual case against Rudolf Hess, and withheld its ruling on his request that he be permitted to act through counsel for the remainder of the war crimes trial.

Hero Commission Announces Awards

Pittsburgh, Jan. 24—(P)—Fred N. Stover, 48, of Hollywood, Calif., who was crippled trying to save a Pennsylvania man from burning to death, has been awarded a bronze medal and $75 a month disability pension by the Carnegie hero fund commission.

The award was announced last night, the commission simultaneously giving eight other bronze medals for heroism, as well as pensions or lump sums of money in most cases. Five of the heroes lost their lives.

Stover was working on an oil derrick at Old Concord, Pa., when an explosion occurred at a nearby well, showering Herman H. Hill, 65, with burning oil.

Stover dashed through a 10-foot area of flaming oil and ripped Hill's blazing clothes from his body. The rescuer's hands were so badly burned as to leave him a cripple. Hill did not recover from his injuries.

SHOOTING VICTIM

Clarion, Jan. 24—(P)—Robert Gurl, 68, of Reidsburg, was killed by the accidental discharge of a small rifle yesterday while preparing to help a neighbor butcher. The accident occurred on the E. C. Frampton farm. A fellow worker was loading the gun which went off prematurely.

RADAR CAME TOO LATE GEN. SHORT CLAIMS

Not Any of Permanent Stations on Oahu Operating At Time of Japanese Attack

TESTIMONY BOLSTERED

Washington, Jan. 24—(P)—Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short charged today that the war department delayed setting up radar in Hawaii in 1941 while it complete installations in New York City, Seattle and San Francisco.

Short's charge was bolstered when he read to the Pearl Harbor investigating committee a telegram he said he had received yesterday from Waterloo, Iowa, signed by Maj. George D. Lesak of the Army Signal Corps.

Lesak said that when he was transferred to San Francisco on Dec. 10, 1941, he found three radar towers "lying on an open pier" there. It was not until several weeks later that he received instructions from Washington to ship them to Honolulu immediately, the telegram said.

Short told the committee the army had hired experts from the Radar Corporation of America to help install radar equipment on the mainland.

"When it came to Hawaii," he said, "it was just a question of the officers digging out what information they could and putting it together. It looked like the war department was more interested in developing radar on the mainland than in Hawaii."

The witness said none of the permanent radar stations on Oahu was in operation at the time of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. A moveable station, being operated for practice, picked up the Japanese planes but the information was not correctly interpreted.

Short said he had not recommended any disciplinary action against Lt. Col. (Then Lt.) Kermit A. Tyler, who dismissed the radar report of approaching planes as unimportant, because he knew Tyler was inexperienced.

Rep. Murphy (D-Pa.) broke in to say he couldn't see how Tyler had any responsibility anyway because Murphy assumed the lieutenant knew nothing of war warning messages and other developments.

The general also told the committee that Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the Philippines had much more secret information about Japanese intentions late in 1941 than he himself had in Hawaii. (Turn to Page Thirteen)

War Contracts Are Menaced By Picketing

Pittsburgh, Jan. 24—(P)—An Allegheny county common pleas court, taking testimony in an injunction suit seeking to limit picketing at strikebound Westinghouse Electric Corp. plants, heard T. I. Phillips, vice president of the company, declared picketing was endangering nearly $100,000,000 worth of contracts.

The second day of the hearing got under way today. The picketing started Jan. 15 when Westinghouse CIO-Electrical Workers walked out to enforce their demand for a $2 a day wage increase.

Phillips testified yesterday pickets prevented engineers from entering the plant, thus holding up work on the contracts. He listed these projects as included in the $100,000,000 worth:

Electrification systems for the Pennsylvania Railroad and for the New York Central from New York to Albany and Buffalo; locomotives and power plants for Russia; turbo-electric locomotives for the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad; electric work for a New York subway, and for Carnegie-Illinois, Weirton, Bethlehem and Great Lakes Steel companies.

Phillips said Westinghouse also is studying streetcar systems in several cities with a view to installing bus systems and is negotiating with the British government for work in Australia and New Zealand.

Eisenhower Plea Has Endorsement

Washington, Jan. 24—(P)—General Dwight E. Eisenhower's call for 250,000 new draftees by July 1 won a conditional endorsement today on Capitol Hill.

The special senate investigators of the demobilization test reported that prospective selectees plus volunteers could ensure the $1,500,000-man army which Eisenhower insists is essential to carry out commitments after mid-year.

The army chief of staff emphasized when he testified before the inquiry that only if the lagging draft "is able to provide 50,000 men per month we are asking for with the 1,500,000-man army he guaranteed under our present discharge policy."

The senate military subcommittee recommended continuing "the rate of demobilization of the past few months." It also was of the opinion that the current recruiting drive would produce more volunteers than army estimates, thereby reducing the number of draftees required.

Striking Packers Have Orders To Stand By For Instructions

CONGRESS TO PUT HEAT ON MANAGEMENT

Drive Sparked By Foes of Proposal For Stern Regulation of Industrial Strife

NEW TACK DEVELOPS

Washington, Jan. 24—(P)—Congressional efforts to put the heat on management, instead of workers, in the current strike epidemic began to take shape today.

The drive is being sparked by foes of proposals for stern regulation of industrial strife, and some of these lawmakers claim the White House is not adverse to at least one turn on the griddle for struck employers.

This new tack developed as several senators and representatives advocated speedy abolition or modification of present laws giving tax rebates to corporations whose 1946 profits were below pre-war levels.

Sponsors of this plan, including one congressman with reported White House backing, disclosed a program for frequent floor speeches defending labor and criticizing employers for their position in present strikes.

Presidential support was claimed for a house address in which Rep. Biemiller (D-Wis.) asserted earlier in the week that the U. S. Steel Company would have "made money" if it had accepted the wage compromise advanced by President Truman.

Biemiller said the company would have added $200,000,000 yearly to its income through a $4 a ton price boost, while paying out $180,000,000 in wage increases at the suggested 18.5 cents an hour gain. The $4 price boost reportedly would have been sanctioned by the administration.

Several of Biemiller's colleagues told a reporter his figures "came from the White House." Biemiller would say only that "they represent a compilation by OPA and the labor department" and that "I was asked to make them public so people would know the situation."

Biemiller, along with other close friends of organized labor such as Reps. Hook (D-Mich.), Savage (D-Wash.), Bradley (D-Ill.), LaFollette (D-Ill.), and Marston (ALP-N.Y.), plan to launch a series of similar speeches in the house. Senators Morse (R-Ore.), Kilgore (D-W.Va.), and Murray (D-Mont.) are expected to carry on along the same line in their chamber.

These members hope not only to gain supporters, but also to stave off quick passage of several pending labor bills which they consider too restrictive.

PERIOD FOR RATIONING WHISKY ANNOUNCED

Harrisburg, Jan. 24—(P)—Continuation of whisky rationing until March 2 was announced today by the Liquor Control Board.

The 32nd rationing period will extend from Monday, Feb. 4 through Saturday, Feb. 16 and the 33rd period from Monday, Feb. 18 through Saturday, March 2.

The individual allotment in each period will be five fluid gallon and one pint of rationed whisky. Licensees will be allotted 90 per cent of their former normal basic purchases. Both are unchanged.

The board said a special supply of 16 brands of unrationed whisky will be available as long as it lasts.

Philly Faces Tieup Of Transportation

Philadelphia, Jan. 24—(P)—The possibility of a crippling transportation strike—starting Feb. 11—faced Philadelphia today.

The 9,655 maintenance and operating employees of the Philadelphia Transportation Company will participate in a strike vote next Tuesday evening and Wednesday morning, officials of Local 234, Transport Workers Union (CIO), reported.

Union President Joseph E. Dougherty said if a strike is approved, the walkout—halting virtually all trolley, bus and subway service in the city—will begin at one minute past midnight, Feb. 11. The union's contract with the PTC expires on that day.

The union's executive committee ordered the strike vote late yesterday because negotiations for a new agreement with the company had been "broken off" Jan. 9, Dougherty said, and management "refused to make any overtures whatever."

The union is seeking a $2-a-day wage boost, a "decency pension plan, union shop and safe and sane operating schedules," Dougherty asserted.

Company spokesmen had no immediate comment.

Commonwealth Officials Cast Wary Eye On 'Protest March'

BULLETIN

Harrisburg, Jan. 24—(P)—State officials arranged to receive leaders of a delegation of striking electrical workers in Governor Martin's office today to hear their complaints about non-payment of unemployment compensation of striking war veterans. William E. Chesnut, secretary of labor and industry, fixed the meeting place by agreement with representatives of the CIO-Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council and local unions of the CIO-United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America.

Harrisburg, Jan. 24—(P)—Commonwealth officials cast an anxious eye on the proposed "protest march" on Pennsylvania's state capital today by an estimated 500 to 1,000 striking war veterans.

"It's just essentially a demonstration," said John A. Phillips, president of the CIO-Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council, but other union leaders and capital sources seemed puzzled on the arrangements.

The mixup boiled down to these points:

- (1) Which state officials the veterans expected to see.
- (2) Whether the whole delegation could attend or only a selected group.
- (3) Whether the purpose was to discuss unemployment compensation or demands for a special session of legislature, a state veterans' bonus or action on housing.
- (4) When the meeting will be held.

The ex-servicemen, from opposite ends of Pennsylvania, are among striking members of the CIO-United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America.

Governor Martin's office said Thomas Fitzpatrick, of Pittsburgh, head of the union's District 6, had asked for a meeting with the governor today on an unemployment compensation dispute, but that it was "physically impossible" for him to see all groups desiring conferences.

A meeting was set however, with William H. Chesnut, secretary of labor and industry, who (Turn to Page Thirteen)

Alimony Orders Are Lifted From Strikers

Pittsburgh, Jan. 24—(P)—Striking steelworkers—at least those under court orders to pay alimony—had their financial burdens eased today. Judges L. Kenneth Harkins and Harry M. Montgomery of the Allegheny county court suspended several alimony orders yesterday—for the duration of the strike. They said they would similarly approve other cases where husbands are unable to make payments.

Their rulings, however, were designed to aid the women who should receive the alimony rather than the men who pay it.

Wage Policy Is Proposed By Fairless

Pittsburgh, Jan. 24—(P)—A national wage policy was urged today by President E. F. Fairless of U. S. Steel Corporation as the steel companies and the CIO-United Steelworkers turned anew to President Truman for a solution of the four-day-old strike.

Termining wages "a national problem," Fairless offered "a proposal which I believe might open the way to a solution not only of the steel strike but the other strikes that now plague the country."

ATTITUDE OF UNION CHIEFS UNREVEALED

Leaders of 193,000 Meat Workers Call Strategy Meeting for Friday to Make Decision

OUTLOOK IS GLOOMY

By the Associated Press

President Truman said today that meat workers would return at their old wages when the government seizes the meat packing industry Saturday, but whether any of the 263,000 strikers would work for the government was still up in the air.

Edgar L. Warren, chief of the Federal Conciliation Service, told reporters in Washington Tuesday he had been assured by T. J. Lloy, an official of the AFL Meat Cutters and Butchers Union, that the AFL strikers would return for the government.

However, the union telegraphed all its locals today, within an hour after the president's statement, to "stand by for instructions from our general office."

Leaders of the 193,000 striking CIO meat workers union have called a strategy meeting for tomorrow to decide whether to return to work.

The AFL telegram to its locals, signed by Earl Jimerson, union president, and other international officers, told them "not to be misled" by reports of "the action of the Amalgamated regarding returning to work."

The president also said the steel workers would return at their old wages if the steel industry eventually is seized.

The president added, however, he thought it was not practical to seize the strike-bound steel industry at this time and reiterated his belief that the industry should grant the 18½ cents hourly wage increase he recommended.

He would not say the steel industry would not be seized eventually, if the strike is prolonged, however.

The president told his news conference that both management and labor had too much power and said much of today's labor strife is merely a try-out for power. He added it was necessary for the government to assert itself, to assert the power of the people.

Asked for a statement of the government asserting itself, he replied he had asked congress for labor legislation it had not seen fit to grant.

Mr. Truman also disclosed government operation of a government built steel plant in Utah is under consideration.

Asked about the proposal of Benjamin F. Fairless, president of U. S. Steel, that he call an all-management conference, the president said he was always ready to talk to business leaders. He added, however, the best thing Fairless could do is send word he accepts the president's wage proposal.

Fairless urged that Mr. Truman call a conference of industrial leaders for their advice "on what kind of a wage elaboration the economy of this country can endure without incurring the danger of an inflationary spiral."

Fairless in a radio speech said his proposal might pave the way for settlement of the steel walkout "and other strikes that now plague the country."

The president also was offered a suggestion by the CIO steel workers' wage policy committee which asked him to turn over "a billion dollars' worth" of government-owned steel plants for operation by individuals willing to accept his recommendation of 18½ cents an hour wage increase.

Ex-Convict Is Held In New Castle Case

Toledo, O., Jan. 24—(P)—A written statement today related how the body of 20-year-old Jean Patur was carried in Irvin C. Herg's automobile for 10 days before it was dumped into the Maumee river.

Detective M. J. Kane of Beaver county, Pa., said that Herg, described by police records as a 43-year-old ex-convict, would be charged with murder.

Herg was to be returned to New Castle, Pa., today. Miss Patur, a former five-and-ten store clerk, lived in Ellwood City, Pa.

Herg broke down after 10 hours' questioning yesterday, said Kane, and signed a statement relating how Miss Patur, an expectant mother, died in Ellwood City, last Oct. 17.

Her body, nude and battered, was found Oct. 28 in the Maumee river near Napoleon, Ohio. Dr. Thomas Ramsey, Toledo pathologist, said she had been strangled. Toledo police records show that Herg served terms in Ohio penitentiary for forgery and in Pennsylvania state prison for attempted rape.

Ceiling Prices On Chops And Steaks Are Not To Be Boosted

Washington, Jan. 24—(P)—The government promised the nation's housewives today that federal seizure of meat-packing plants will not boost ceiling prices for steaks and chops.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson said all meat products will continue to be sold under present OPA retail ceilings after his department takes over operation of the struck meat plants where 263,000 CIO and AFL workers have been made idle by a wage dispute.

He said much speculation whether the administration might resort to similar action in other current labor strikes. The White House had nothing to say on that topic.

Otherwise the country's critical labor picture showed few important changes. However, effort to resolve the wage dispute of 650,000 shipyard workers by means of a compromise proposal were being studied, with the possibility of a decision during the day.

The most important question for the women who do the country's marketing and cook its meals still was whether federal operation of struck meat plants would restore a normal flow of meat to their neighborhood butcher shops.

Huge Truck Is Assigned To Highway Dept.

Harley Dudgeon, of Lander, employed by the local State Highway Department leaves this evening for Harrisburg to drive back to Warren a huge truck which has been assigned to the Warren Highway Station. The new truck is a 10 ton Oshkosh fitted with hydraulic system throughout, airbrakes and a diesel engine. It will be twice the size of any truck now in possession of the local highway workers. Possessed of a great power reserve it will be used in highway work generally and will be a strong addition to the machines with which to battle snow. One of the big machines was recently assigned to Erie county and it proved its worth in the recent heavy snow fall.

Superintendent Warren Lowe also stated this morning that he anticipates receiving soon other additions to the machinery at the local Highway station. One of the new pieces of which he has been notified he is to receive is a grader much larger than the one which he recently received and which worked wonderfully well on the recent snow and ice.

The improvement of the equipment here is in line with the efforts of State Highway Secretary John U. Schroyer to get most of the old machinery which is practically worn out replaced. He is making a great effort to that end and orders have been placed for a huge amount. Inside of the next few months many replacements are expected to be received here.

Just what work will be done in the way of new construction on county roads is not known as yet. There are however six roads that will probably be built but as yet no funds have been assigned to them. Supt. Lowe, however, is hopeful that the money will be assigned to these roads in the near future and that they will be built during the coming summer.

Veterans Can Now Secure Funds For Buying of Farms

Carlson F. Mertz, State Director of the Farm Security Administration for Pennsylvania announced today that the Farm Security Administration is now ready to receive applications from farm Veterans who wish to obtain a loan to buy or rent a farm and take the on-time-farming agricultural training which is offered to them by the Veterans Administration in cooperation with Vocational Agriculture Education of Pennsylvania while farming the rented farm or the farm they own.

He stated that the opportunity offered the returned Veteran to learn agriculture on the farm while farming, is made available where the boy does not care to or cannot go to the school to take a refresher course in agriculture. He explained, as he understood it, a returned Veteran who could qualify as a farm tenant or owner could get training under the Vocational Agriculture Education system of Pennsylvania as he operated a farm as a tenant or owner and receive his subsistence payment of $80 for a married Veteran or $65 for a single Veteran, and receive this until he or she qualifies as being able to carry on by themselves. This training can run for one year plus the years the Veteran was in the service, if he or she has received an honorable discharge.

He also stated the Farm Security Administration can loan up to $12,000 to a veteran for the purchase of a farm if the farm passes the approval of the Farm Security County Committee in each County which is composed of three good farmers plus a member of the Veterans Administration. Comprising this committee is: Frank Dodd, David VanOrsdale, Clarence Rhinehart, and Andrew Nelson. Mr. Mertz feels the FSA is well qualified to help the Veteran and family because of its years of experience in helping farmers get started and other farmers get back on their feet.

The Farm Security Administration Veteran loan can run for forty years at 3 per cent and is based on a well-planned Farm and Home Plan prepared by the Veteran and the local Supervisor and Home Management Supervisor of FSA. Our aim is to help 300 returning farm Veterans in Pennsylvania become tenants or owners this calendar year, he stated, and that the Farm Security Administration has many other facilities that are of real aid to the returning farm Veteran.

The office to which Veterans from Warren County can apply is located at Ostrander Bldg., Smithport, Pa. Lyle A. Crooks is in charge of this territory.

NICE PLAY BECOMES DEFENSE BOOMERANG

It gave me great pleasure to report to John Whitney Richmond of the War Finance Committee of New York that the American Contract Bridge League's recorded figures for the Victory Loan drive amounted to $1,991,675. This meant that, with unreported sales, the League had gone over its quota of $2,000,000.

John said today's hand reminded him of the end of the Victory Loan drive. It came at the end of a hectic evening of bridge, so without ado he opened the bidding with four spades. You can't blame West for doubling, can you? But see what happened in the play. West cashed his king and ace of hearts, and made a nice play when he continued with a heart, hoping to establish a spade trick for himself. The third heart was ruffed in dummy with the three or spades, the ace of spades was cashed, and John ruffed a club in his own hand. The king of spades picked up the queen and John spread his hand, conceding a diamond trick.

THE NATIONAL GUARD

Kane Republican

Development of a large and well-equipped Pennsylvania National Guard with large enrollment and stepped-up tempo in the interest of resisting invasion is an interesting program. Tied in as it is with universal military service in the proposed plans, it affects vast numbers of people.

As a means of resisting invasion, the National Guard must occupy a second or third position. Until a new realism hits the entire nation, no force under arms can do too much. Even the regular forces of the country cannot move until they are ordered to do so by the President and he cannot apply war measures until Congress has agreed to a declaration. This is not meant to minimize the importance of a well-trained National Guard, but is meant to emphasize the importance of an alert nation, seeing realistically what the rest of the world is doing and willing at all times to fulfill its national obligations.

Only a nation half asleep would have retarded war preparations as we did in 1939, 1940 and 1941. With aggressor nations openly boastful of plans to control the world, many of our representatives in the national congress voted against measures that would have speeded up American preparations months and years. The Congress of the United States is our first line of defense.

However, there are many good reasons for developing the best possible National Guard and we are heartily in favor of so doing. It is a means of training young men in many lines. Even without universal training, and it is almost certain we won't have it for a long time, the National Guard is a valuable asset to the Commonwealth and the nation.

Developed along improved lines and dedicated to the highest military principles, a National Guard is a real asset in case of any important emergency and, of course, in the case of war the men it has trained become invaluable. Records prove this contention beyond any shadow of doubt.

ERROR IN TIMING

Says Harry Klinefister, former local news writer, now editor of the Forest Republican printed in Tionesta:

The union president, old Phil Murray and his lieutenants didn't show any mercy on their subjects, the union members, when he took them for a strike ride and placed them on the picket line, with threats of fines of five dollars on failing to show up for picket duty and $10 for failure to do picket duty, or expulsion from the union if failing to pay the fine. Many of the pickets are not used to the rigors of winter on a cold disagreeable picket line, and many cases of colds, pneumonia and possibly death will be the outcome. The humane way would have been to wait until spring or warmer weather; but that would have been too close to election time, and the wrath of the general public might have been heaped on their heads. Anyway, a Hitler or Mussolini will arise from the ruins—remember Italy and Germany—and that will be just too bad for all of us, and possibly the world too. The atomic bomb?

Because he aided in the pioneering of the development of Living Memorials the name of Edward D. Wetmore, whose passing was chronicled in Monday's issue, will ever be enshrined in the hearts and memory of local citizens. A life-long resident of Warren, Mr. Wetmore's interests were always clustered about the community and its progress. Most of the projects for betterment were given his enthusiastic support. His influence was felt in many lines of activity, one of which was in encouraging industrial development of the borough. The success which marked his efforts in many directions is known to all of his friends. Because he possessed the vision and benevolent interest Warren has one of the finest public libraries to be found in the state. Had it not been for his charitable interest the Warren General Hospital over a long period of years would have found it even more difficult to function, and there is Camp Jeffmore—these and many more projects will go down through the ages as Living Memorials to an outstanding and philanthropic citizen, Edward D. Wetmore.

The keeper of a general store in Japan wants to be emperor, on account of an ancestor being wrongfully kicked off the throne 600 years ago. To him we would offer this gratuitous advice: Curb your vaulting ambition. Divine imperialism in Japan was never at a lower ebb. Furthermore, as a general storekeeper you are bothered neither with a meat strike nor with the OPA. So stick where you are, bub, you don't know when you're well off.

Good Luck, Chum!

FARM NEWS

Feeding Calves Yeast Helps Prevent Rickets

Supplying the deficient vitamin D by including irradiated yeast in the diet helps arrest or correct rickets, a nutritional disease prevalent among calves, informs County Agent O. C. Tritt.

Yeast added at the rate of 1½ pounds per ton of grain provides sufficient vitamin D for normal growth and development in calves and can be fed until the calves are 10 months old or longer.

Adding yeast to the diet not only corrects the condition, but also encourages more rapid growth. Calves develop at less cost and grow into more desirable animals.

When vitamin D is low in the diet insufficient lime is deposited in the bones, with the result they become soft and deformed. Afflicted calves stand around with drooped heads and arched backs.

In winter the only natural source of vitamin D is hay, and this may be supplemented by mixing yeast with the grain feed.

Fortified Red Squill Effective In Rat Control

Fortified Red Squill is now available again, and is proving the best medium for winter rat control, reports County Agent O. C. Tritt. Many farmers have complained that rats seem more numerous this year than for several years, emphasizing the importance of spreading poison bait at this time.

Use canned fish or cheap hamburger meat, properly mixed with the new Fortified Red Squill for giving excellent results in killing the rodents, farmers have reported after using this system. Poison bait should be spread in those sections of the farm where rats have been seen, under low buildings, in runways, and where the bait will be most quickly taken.

Sixteen-month-old Terry Delaney evidently believes "mother knows best." She's pictured with her mother, Mrs. Austin Delaney, on picket line in Vancouver, B. C. Mrs. Delaney was among scores of former Canadian servicemen and women who protested tearing down of old Vancouver Hotel until town's acute housing shortage is eased.

Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Your Capital in Peacetime:

In spite of all preceding pros and cons, when Gen. Eisenhower finished his long explanation of the Army demobilization program to more than 200 members of Congress recently, and then asked for questions, not a one was asked.

Although the General came with scores of pages of prepared statement, he threw them aside after only a few minutes and ad-libbed the rest of the way. Probably not since George Washington has any military leader been more effective on a speaker's platform.

It's time somebody started passing the accolade along to OPA Administrator Chester Bowles. He has stuck in a job that was too hot for all of his predecessors, including Leon Henderson who isn't chased easily even from a doghouse.

Nobody would have charged Bowles with desertion if he had joined the exodus of business big-leaguers as soon as the war was over. Instead he has stayed on through the period when criticism of OPA has reached the zenith and authority of the organization has been steadily waning.

It wouldn't be fair to mention his name, but one of the nation's top lawmakers had this to say when I mentioned the telephone and telegraph strikes:

"Goodness, what a relief. If the postoffice employees would just walk out now for a couple of weeks, maybe I could catch my breath."

WASHINGTON has had as many housing laughs as any of the cities but none struck the capital funnier than the fact that the National Housing Administration is househunting.

NHA has had quarters in a private building on Eye St. N.W. The owners sold. The new owners told NHA they could get out and the sooner the better.

POST-WAR note: The State Department passport division is expanding frantically. It has been given a No. 1 priority on clerks, typists, etc., but is pretty glutted about the prospect of getting enough new workers to meet the increasing demand for passports and visas.

THE TALK is going around and around here that Interior Secretary Ickes soon will leave the cabinet to join that other outspoken little man, Fiorello La Guardia, as a radio commentator. The gossipers also are positive, but not quite as much so, that Henry Wallace will leave the Department of Commerce soon to take the stump for the liberals in the 1946 Congressional elections. All you can get out of either of them is Ickes' offer to bet a dollar that he can come closer to naming his resignation date than any of the news men.

County Boys and Girls Give Help In Clothing Campaign

Warren county boys and girls are giving their wholehearted support to the Victory Clothing Drive, with collections scheduled for next week. Their remarks prove they realize that although the war is over for them, it is not over for the boys and girls in Europe and Asia, suffering beyond the apparent limits of our comprehension.

They have been working earnestly and with enthusiasm to do their share in collecting the 100,000,000 garments needed. County pupils and teachers are reminded that they may start bringing their donations of clothing and bedding and much needed shoes to their schools on the 28th. The Pennsylvania State Highway trucks will pay their pickup visits to the schools on February 1st.

Collections should be delivered to one of the following schools in the county before the February 1st pickup date. There will be cartons for donations, which should be wrapped, at Starbrick, Irvine, Youngsville, Pittsfield, Garland, Enterprise, and Tidoute on the first trip. On the second trip trucks will stop at Spring Creek, Columbus, Lottsville, Sugar Grove, Chancellors Valley, Lander and Russell, North Warren, Pleasant, Irvinedale, Kinzua, Stoneham, Clarendon, Tiona and Sheffield will be included on the third trip. County Superintendent H. L. Blair feels sure that the schools again will respond to this opportunity to express in concrete form their concern for the suffering children, and the women and men, in Europe and Asia. The schools expect to live up to their wartime reputation of going way over the top in their drives. They realize that never has the need been so great.

The date for the borough schools collection is the 31st. Pupils responded so well to the appeal from the Save the Children Federation in collecting clothing for the needy in this country, that it is hoped parents and teachers will help their children establish another record for the needy overseas. The collections will be made in the parochial school of the borough on the same date, Friday, the 31st.

Even as the clothing is collected here through the schools, it is distributed overseas through the schools, with attention to the most immediate and urgent needs of each child. It has been suggested even urged, that every boy and girl donating to the drive should attach a friendly letter to the garment. Letters attached to some of the 25,000,000 garments last spring contributed considerably to raising the morale of a discouraged and destitute people.

A new Coast Guard lightship is under construction and will be assigned to duty at the Diamond Shoal lightship station, off the coast of North Carolina.

State Police May Put Radio Cars In County

State police of the local station who have been handicapped many times by lack of radio equipment in their cars may soon find them selves equipped with two way radios in the patrol machines. The Commissioner Wilhelm, of the State Police has been working on the project of getting radio cars on the state highways. He has 20 cars now in use with radios on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, Wyoming and Harrisburg districts where they have proved highly successful.

Commissioner Wilhelm said: "We plan to use these new radio cars all over the state as soon as equipment is available. We feel they will aid in reducing an alarmingly increased number of traffic violations and crime in general. We probably will add to the fleet from time to time as new vehicles and other equipment are put on the market."

Not only will there be more patrol cars on the roads during the months to come but there will be more men available. Fifty recruits are now in training at the State Police school at Hershey and they will soon be commissioned and placed over the state.

With the increase in highway traffic expected during the next few months and with an increase in crime over the nation the additions to the State Police force and its equipment will be an aid over the state.

Sheriff L. E. Linder has for some time been carefully checking Warren county in an effort to set up a system whereby the county can be alerted rapidly in event of local trouble. An effort has been made many times to have a radio placed in the Sheriff's car tied in with the Warren police system but it has never been successfully worked out.

Miss Dingman Has Message On Peace For Church Group

"What We in Warren Can Do for World Peace" was the subject presented by Miss Mary Dingman at a meeting at the Y. W. C. A. yesterday afternoon. A group of women representing a number of churches met with Miss Dingman to consider this topic which is so important today.

The next three to five years sets the direction of winning the peace she said. "After World War I the United States felt it was safe alone. The fallacy of that belief has been proved and we are now having our second chance."

Miss Dingman pointed out three ways in which we can proceed. First is that we have to care tremendously that there shall not be war again. She asked which is the greater motive, fear or vision. We must care enough to be moved. Secondly we must have faith. The lack of faith is widespread and we must have faith to pray for everyone. Thirdly we must use our minds. Most people find it easier not to study things but it is something we must do.

To help women in their thinking, she told of the non-partisan organization called "The Women's Action Committee for Lasting Peace." This organization's purpose is "To unite American women to work for full participation by the United States in international efforts to build a world of peace and justice under law." Women over the country are realizing the need for such an organization and feeling in their hearts that by their action they can do something to prevent the next war.

Interest was expressed by those present that Warren women did need to be informed on the international problems of today. How they can do it will be considered at a meeting that will convene early in February, details to be announced later in these columns.

State Police May Put Radio Cars In County

State police of the local station who have been handicapped many times by lack of radio equipment in their cars may soon find themselves equipped with two way radios in the patrol machines. Sheriff L. E. Linder has for some time been carefully checking Warren county in an effort to set up a system whereby the county can be alerted rapidly in event of any local trouble. An effort has been made many times to have a radio placed in the Sheriff's car tied in with the Warren police system but it has never been successfully worked out.

Miss Dingman Has Message On Peace For Church Group

"What We in Warren Can Do for World Peace" was the subject presented by Miss Mary Dingman at a meeting at the Y. W. C. A. yesterday afternoon. A group of women representing a number of churches met with Miss Dingman to consider this topic which is so important today.

The next three to five years sets the direction of winning the peace she said. "After World War I the United States felt it was safe alone. The fallacy of that belief has been proved and we are now having our second chance."

Miss Dingman pointed out three ways in which we can proceed. First is that we have to care tremendously that there shall not be war again. She asked which is the greater motive, fear or vision. Most people find it easier not to study things but it is something we must do.

To help women in their thinking, she told of the non-partisan organization called "The Women's Action Committee for Lasting Peace." This organization's purpose is "To unite American women to work for full participation by the United States in international efforts to build a world of peace and justice under law." Women over the country are realizing the need for such an organization and feeling in their hearts that by their action they can do something to prevent the next war.

Interest was expressed by those present that Warren women did need to be informed on the international problems of today. How they can do it will be considered at a meeting that will convene early in February, details to be announced later in these columns.

Even before the first robin has a chance to put in his appearance, the new spring suits herald the arrival of spring! The new spring suits that add life to the doldrums of winter! Too, this year's suits are prettier, softer, and with more details that make them more potent as a spring tonic. Betty Lee's spring collection of famous name suits is larger and more complete than ever before... Betty Lee's spring collection of suits is softer and more feminine than ever before; so, for a good start towards a pleasant spring, plan to see them soon.

Trend Toward Education Of Adults Shown By the Library

The Warren public library is reflecting a country-wide trend toward adult education. The past few weeks there have been on increasing number of requests from adults concerning further education. There has of course been special interest among returning servicemen, for whom the library has set up a special information service, cooperating with the Veterans' Bureau. But there has also been considerable general interest in courses and special reading programs.

On Monday two adult extension courses open at the library. Comparative Government is scheduled for 4:30 and Interpretative Reading for 7 o'clock. Further particulars about the courses may be secured from the Advisory Department. Enrollment may still be made on Monday. The library has on display a full page spread from the Christian Science Monitor of December 19, 1945, featuring the Chicago public library's successful efforts with adult courses. Sixteen branches are cooperating by offering literary courses.

In Chicago the study has centered in the great books of literature. There has been no attempt to water down the course there, but the response has been truly amazing, with a present waiting list of over 300 names.

For Warren readers who are interested in filling out their acquaintance with the classics, the Chicago list should be interesting. For the 1945-46 season at the fortnightly meetings the following classics are read and discussed. Included are Plato, Apology, Crito, Gorgias, Thucydides, Book I, St. Augustine, Confessions, Book I, The Prince, Shakespeare's Hamlet, Locke, of Civil Government, Rousseau, The Social Contract, Book I and II, Selected Federalist Papers along with the Constitution, Smith, The Wealth of Nations, Book I, and Karl Marx, Communist Manifesto.

Other titles on display in the non-fiction class are The Road to Reaction by Herman Finer; Needle in a Haystack by W. J. Spillard; Federal Narcotics Agent; Fishes and Shells of the Pacific World by Nichols and Bartsch; Alcoholics Are Sick People by R. V. Seliger; Internal Combustion Engines by Jennings and Ober; Zero Storage In Your Home by Boyden Sparkes; Houses For Homemakers by R. B. Willis; Skink for the Millions by Frank Harper; De Shootinest

Friendly Persuasion by Jessamyn West. The Gay Deserters is a light-hearted, witty and satirical story of the refugees who made their homes in and around New York during the war years. John P. Marquand thinks that Beach Red may set a new fashion in the future literature of this past war. It gives the military history of a single hour in a soldier's life in a Pacific island invasion. First Encounter deals with "the lives and loves" of the frontline soldier of 1918 as seen by an ambulance driver.

Out of his experience as a lawyer, Mr. Gross has written an amusing and extremely revealing book, "What Is The Verdict" about the vagaries of the law as it is practiced. Jessamyn West will please many readers with the refreshing human qualities of The Friendly Persuasion.

Other titles on display in the non-fiction class are The Road to Reaction by Herman Finer; Needle in a Haystack by W. J. GARLAND

Garland, Jan. 22—Another wedding was held in the Pittsfield Wesleyan Methodist church on Saturday when Opal, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Rhodes of that place was united in marriage to Paul Morris. The groom is a nephew of Mrs. Mildred Tripp of Garland and has been a frequent visitor here. Several from here attended the ceremony and Miss Myrtle Tripp a cousin of the groom here served as maid of honor. Garland friends of the young couple extend their very best wishes for happiness.

This makes the third wedding in the little church in the recent

All Departments will be equipped with ample storage, locker and toilet facilities.

To Perpetuate a Memory

In each generation there are some men and women with the vision to perceive the value of a lasting memorial which will serve to enrich the lives of others. It brings quiet satisfaction to know that a memorial to a friend, relative or loved one will give to generations the mercies of a hospital. To allow friends of the Warren General Hospital to share in its future, in a special and particular way, a list of memorials is resented here.

Secretaries Meeting Today Over At Corry

The secretaries of the Young Christian Association of this town are in session today at Corry, Pa., discussing many of the problems that are facing the workers of this period. It is the bi-monthly meeting and representation from Kane, Bradford, Warren, Titusville, Bradford, Oil City, Erie, Titusville, Franklin and are in attendance.

District Executive Dr. C. W. Barger, of Meadville will be in attendance. Luncheon is served at noon at the Ritz restaurant.

The speaker of the day will be Mark A. Dawber, executive secretary of the Home Missions Council of North America. He is an outstanding authority on town country work in the country.

It is doubtful whether there are secretaries in town and country work in the association movement who have a more significant service in this field than has Dawber. As secretary of the Home Missions of twenty-three of the largest and most influential Protestant denominations in the country, he covers a wide territory.

Alias Santa Takes Appeal For Kiddies

Alias Santa, just like a woman, is never done, is in need of a high chair and a carriage. Now the old boy doesn't need these things for himself but he knows of a couple of kids that do need 'em and needs badly.

Alias said Alias, "I got into a lot of homes during a lot of seasons and gained a lot of love that I have been carrying in the aid of unfortunates. I been busy extending a little here and there and I know a lot of needs exist. And in one home a high chair would be a grand thing for a tired little mother and a baby carriage would be a boon to another kiddie. I know there must be a lot of these things and town in attics stored away in case. But if some kind folks will only get busy call the Times-Mirror office and I'll be glad to pick up the articles needed."

The Times-Mirror office number is 1509.

Expand Air Express Over Whole Nation

Agent Gilmore of the Railways Express, always enthusiastic over use of air express has announced further expansion of the service. A two way service is now in effect into and out of Warren. Use of air express by firms in this area reached a peak during the war when rapid shipments of machine parts, etc., was speeded by airlines. This use of the fast service has continued in a satisfactory manner.

The simplified procedure, Gilmore says, have been set up in the larger international airport cities as Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Dallas, etc. At these points international shipments can be cleared through customs and the express expected that under the arrangement shipments from Warren will be cleared via Pittsburgh, New York.

The coordinated air and rail express service has been growing by leaps and bounds and almost every day since the war started the express in Warren has shown a marked increase.

Boys Attending Future Farmers Meet This Week

Thomas Inter, of Youngsville, of the High School Vocational School there, and Maurice McWilliams, of Titusville, Chapter of the Future Farmers of America, are in Harrisburg this week. The boys were taken down by Karl W. Flowers, of the Forest County Vocational School.

They are attending the convention of the F. F. A. as delegates from Warren and Forest counties and will aid in the election of officers, present the 1945 project contest awards and confer the Keystone Farmer degrees along with other business.

Ceilings Go Off Soon On Many Foods

Warren housewives may have to adjust their budgets a little when the OPA suspends price control on a score or more of food items next Monday, according to announcement from Washington. It is expected that once ceilings are off there will be a gradual rise in the price of many items and that the grocery dollar will become even smaller than it is at present.

Food items which will be freed of price control include canned sweet potatoes, canned parsnips, canned onions except pickled onions, canned rutabagas, canned turnips, canned sauerkraut juice, canned beet juice, canned fresh peppers, canned cabbage, canned Irish potatoes except French fried, shoestring, except julienne, fresh hothouse lettuce, ice cream sandwich wafers and waffles, imported dehydrated banana flakes, imported calf's foot jelly, imported and domestic canned eels, frozen clams and frozen oysters.

Toys are due to go off the list too. The small number of toys which will remain under price ceilings include tricycles, small automobiles which a child can drive and wagons longer than 18 inches. Controls will remain on these items, OPA said, until rubber and metal become more plentiful.

Also being exempt from price control are imported snuff, cigar cuttings and clippings. In addition OPA is extending the present suspension of price ceilings on fresh and frozen canned crabmeat until March 30 and indefinitely suspending controls on vegetable seeds.

William Underwood introduced the canning process of preserving food in the United States in 1820.

Methodist men who attended the Eight-Point Brotherhood at Lander reported a good meeting and a chicken dinner. Youngville will entertain this group Tuesday evening Feb. 19th.

Trio For February

The Committee on Community Recreation announces a full schedule for the shortest month of the year, setting three dates for youth parties: The first on February 2nd in cooperation with the Victory Clothing Collection; a basketball game on the 15th; and a Valentine event for grade schoolers on the afternoon of the 16th. Georgia Spinney and Charles Cochener will head the committee for the February 2nd affair, and are planning to have everyone bring to the party a garment or article needed in the clothing drive, a plan which should result in many well-filled boxes if capacity crowds of previous parties are any indication. The party on the 15th will follow the last home game of the basketball season, Warren playing Titusville. This is the first post-game party of a community nature, although several held by the Girls' Club at the YW have proved very popular. (It won't conflict, either, with the Romeo-Juliet dance the Girls' Club is having on the 16th.)

One of the major difficulties of the committee in planning community parties is the number of requests from different age groups. More can be given for the teens and twenties because they have done much of the work and planning themselves. However, last year's Christmas party for grade school children brought out 500 boys and girls of the much-younger set and their requests for another party have been frequent and numerous. This event on the 16th, originally planned for the holiday season, will take on a Valentine air, with each school asked to present a special number for the program and the Girl Scouts to assist with the games.

All three of the above events are planned by the Committee on Community Recreation and sponsored by the Community PTA and, as always, there will be no admission fees. Details for each affair will be announced later.

YOUNGVILLE

Youngville, Jan. 24.—Many local friends are sorry to learn of the death of their friend, Mrs. Cora Raymond, a very well known former Youngville resident who died Saturday, Jan. 12, at the City Hospital of Meadville after a brief illness of only a few days.

Mrs. Raymond was the widow of Henry L. Raymond, and for many years Mr. and Mrs. Raymond lived on West Main street, Youngville. A part of this time Mr. Raymond conducted a meat market. They moved to Corry on leaving Youngville. After Mr. Raymond's death Mrs. Raymond made her home with a sister, Mrs. Park Teasdale, where she was living when she suffered a heart attack and died later in the hospital.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Melvin Parkhurst of Erie, formerly of Warren. She also leaves a grandson, Lt. Robert Parkhurst, who is serving with the army in Tokyo, Japan; her sister, Mrs. Teasdale, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held on Monday at the Bracken-Keating Funeral Home at Corry and burial was in the family plot in Pinegrove cemetery of Corry.

YOUTH FOR CHRIST RALLY
The young people of the United Brethren church are sponsoring a "Youth for Christ Rally" at the United Brethren church, Saturday, Jan. 26, at 7:30 p. m.

James Thompson, who recently returned from U. S. service in the Pacific, will be the speaker. All young people of the community are welcome. A social time will follow the worship service.

Special services are being held every night this week at the United Brethren church, with Rev. Glen Reed, evangelist.

MILITARY FUNERAL

Military funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Young funeral parlor for J. F. Marsh, a veteran of World War I, who died Tuesday at the home of his sister from a heart attack. The American Legion Halgren-Wilcox Post of Youngville will have charge of the service and Rev. J. L. Strong will bring the funeral message.

Surviving are a brother, Benjamin Marsh, of Corry, and sisters, Mrs. Myrtle Cady, of Clymer, and Mrs. Floyd Rose, of Youngville.

LOCALS

Youngville folks read in the Times-Mirror of Jan. 23, page 3, the article, "Types of Cleaning Needed in Drive Listed by Com-

Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King, Commander-in-Chief of the U. S. Navy, urging nationwide support of the March of Dimes, January 14-31, conducted by The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, says:

"Through the teamwork of our armed services supported by all Americans on the homefront, our nation achieved victory over her enemies overseas. We must now exert the same united effort in a war against an enemy within our shores—infantile paralysis. Every American should participate in the national fight against this disease by contributing to the March of Dimes."

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Parkhurst, of Erie, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Mead. Freeman Brown is now home, having recently received his discharge from the navy. We are very glad to see the lady united with their families.

Robert Meelen has arrived in this country from Okinawa and has telephoned his mother that he expects to get home soon. He has been in the army of occupation in Okinawa.

In spite of the auto strikes several new cars loaded on a truck carrier passed through Youngville Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Briggs and Mrs. Wendell Engstrom attended last week the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. William Houghton, of Corry. Mr. Houghton was for several years a merchant of Garland.

GRAND VALLEY

Grand Valley, Jan. 20.—On Sunday, Jan. 13 Miss Shirley Ann Ashton entertained eleven of her school chums in celebration of her eleventh birthday. Miss Ashton received many lovely gifts and was hostess to the following guests: Beverly Paden, Janice Holcomb, June Holcomb, Phyllis Van-Guilder, Jeanette Zinger, Carol Carmell, Nora Cornell, Yvonne Chappel, Joan Chappel, Elaine Baker, and Mary Davis. The young ladies enjoyed an interesting afternoon of games and topped off the gala occasion with a gay birthday supper.

Frank Mundt and family attended the funeral of James F. McHenry in Titusville last Tuesday.

Several of the Valley Boys have been home on a furlough recently. They are Bob Paden, Bob Graham and James Mundt, all from the Navy.

There hasn't been much news in the valley of late because of so much sickness, many are confined to their homes and several school children have been out of school because of the flu.

Old friends of Peter Haehn of Warren, a resident of Grand Valley for years, were sorry to hear of his death last week. Frank and Pete conducted a blacksmith shop and livery stable here in the valley for years.

Herb and Pete Persing received word late Sunday night of the death of their father, S. E. Persing of Dempsietown.

Enchanted Journey

By Helen R. Woodward

Chapter 24
NEXT morning Burk went about his work with the thought constantly in mind, "She's here—in my house—where I've wanted her to be all the time!"

No use hedging now, no use trying to deny the surging wave of emotion that had swept over him when he had held her in his arms, terrified with a weakening, sickening agony that harm had come to her. Might as well just let down all barriers—those barriers he had erected for the express purpose of keeping her out of his heart. She had catapulted over his stone wall. And now she was here in his heart and in his home. The knowledge gave him a feeling of completeness, as if a part long missing had now been supplied. He could not see now beyond the present, indeed he did not want to think too much about what the future might hold for them. Whether or not Edith might return his love—and in the end what could be done about Whit Lacey. Resolutely he shut his mind to that last consideration, hoping against hope that it would take care of itself when the time came.

Edith, resting comfortably now in the big bed in the guest room, felt that she had been transported to another world. At Roselands an atmosphere of strain and anxiety was always manifest, but here there was a peace and dignity which seemed to impart itself to those who sought shelter beneath its roof. The drowsiness of late summer pervaded the atmosphere and carried Edith through a period of half-sleeping, half-waking. It was an altogether delightful state in which to be. The consciousness of where she was, that Burk was close by, that at any time he might stroke his hand in the door to ask how she felt, lulled her into a feeling of contented ecstasy.

When he appeared carrying her supper tray, with Mrs. Maxon fluttering close behind, she sat up quickly, her hand flying to her hair in an effort to smooth it. The quick motion set her head to reeling.

"Here, should you be jumping up like that?" Burk asked.

"I guess not. I'm still a little woozy!"

"I should think you would be. Here, let me fix your pillows!"

"Now, Mr. Burk—you just put the tray on the table," Mrs. Maxon advised. "I'll attend to making her comfortable. I'm afraid you don't know very much about handling patients—"

"Say you! Look!" Edith, gently, she slipped an arm under Edith's shoulders, while with the other hand he adjusted the pillows so that she was resting comfortably in a half-sitting position. "How's that? Comfortable?"

"Fine!" She really was comfortable, but her head was swimming so she was afraid she might pass out. She was pretty sure she couldn't eat the delicious looking food they had brought her. She'd have to make a try, though, with both of them watching her so hopefully. With Mrs. Maxon's help she did pretty well, though Burk was far from satisfied.

"You'll have to do a lot better than that if you expect to be out soon," he said, then added, "Of course we're not trying to get rid of you though we do want you to get well soon!"

"The looks like a very little girl in those pink pajamas with 'tousled hair' he thought. "She's even lovelier than I remembered!"

Edith said, "Why don't you sit down?" but Mrs. Maxon interrupted, "Because he's not staying. I'll have to take a hand here. The doctor said expressly that any visitors should stay only a moment!"

"And you call me a visitor in my own house?"

When he had gone, Mrs. Maxon said, "I've never seen him so concerned over anyone—except his sister, of course. He's very fond of her. But usually he's so reticent."

Edith felt the warm color in her face, a wave of warmth flooding her entire being.

"The next morning Burk, about to sit down to his breakfast in his sunny, yellow-curtained dining room, looked up startled to see Edith standing in the doorway. She wore a simple blue linen frock that Barbara had brought, her dark hair was smooth and shining above her flushed face. He hurried to her side.

"What do you think you're doing?" he demanded. "You know perfectly well you've no business down here!"

"But I'm feeling fine," she declared. "Look, the swelling has completely gone out of my ankle and my head doesn't feel like a barrel any more. I woke up feeling so well I thought perhaps you'd let me join you for breakfast!"

She reached out her hand and his fingers closed around hers. They stood thus for a long moment, looking deep into each other's eyes. Then with a little cry of tenderness, Burk's arms went around her, his lips sought hers. Edith, her heart hardly able to contain the joy of the moment, clung to him in complete abandon. It seemed to her that the whole world stood still, suspended in this enchanted fragment of time, the beauty of this moment etching itself with unforgettable splendor into eternity.

Later, with tears of joy still glistening on her lashes, she said, smiling, "You tried so hard not to love me, Burk!"

His face sobered. "There was so much to keep up apart, darling—there still is, you know."

She answered confidently, secure now with his arms about her. "We mustn't let anything happen. Edith! It will all work out right for us—because it's just got to!"

VIC FLINT

YOU SAY A STRANGER, A BIG GUY, FOLLOWED ME IN HERE THIS MORNING AND ASKED YOU WHO I WAS? DID YOU TELL HIM?

I TELL HIM I DON'T KNOW. WHY SHOULD I TELL A STRANGER SOMETHING THAT IS NOT HIS BUSINESS, MR. FLINT?

Good old Tony. There was a guy you could trust. I ducked out and grabbed a cab.

I got out at the apartment hotel where the blond lived that Libby and I had trailed from the racetrack.

KEEP THIS, DRIVER, AND STICK AROUND ABOUT 15 MINUTES. IF I'M NOT DOWN BY THEN, DON'T WAIT.

BETTER GET A NEW LICENSE FOR ROVER

Owen S. Sheridan, dog law enforcement officer for the district, spent the day in Warren on a checkup through the area. He issued a warning to owners of canines in Warren and vicinity that the law is to be rigidly enforced and all canines found without licenses will be picked up. The penalty for harboring an unlicensed dog is from $5.00 to $100 fine. Licenses may be purchased at the office of the county treasurer in the court house.

HOPES FOR DISCOVERIES

The Bradford Era in yesterday's edition expressed the hope that further explorations be made at Cornplanter where skulls, etc., were dug up just prior to the war. The Era says: "It is hoped that the archeological excavations at Cornplanter, abandoned because of the war, will be resumed again this summer. The exhuming of these primitive Indian graves disclosed many interesting bits of lore about pre-historic civilization in this area. Contrary to popular opinion, work of this kind does not consist of taking a pick and shovel to uncover a lot of beautiful vases and relics. The site is first marked out in small squares, uncovered very carefully, and each handful of dirt sifted to disclose broken pieces of pottery, beads, or other artifacts that will help tell a story to the investigating scientists."

SYLVANIA HALTS PENN BOTTLES TO COP 1ST HALF TOGA

Grunswieg Stars Bulbmakers To 53-42 Win; Matthew Otto Keeps Losers In Ball Game

Sylvania sewed the first half City League championship in its satchel last night only to move into the second half with the Penn Bottles of Sheffield breathing on its neck as the race for honors gains friction.

The Bulbmakers turned in a 53-42 victory last night on the Y hardwood to cop the championship of first half competition, but it took a full 32 minutes before the victors were satisfied to call it quits for the night.

Nick Grunswieg, the army captain, and Matthew Otto were the outstanding players on the floor in last evening's rough-and-tumble affair watched by several hundred fans.

Grunswieg was held to two goals and four foul points in the first two periods, but the 6 foot 6 inch giant turned on the heat and proved himself a very skillful ball player in the second half to total 20 points.

Otto, the Penn Bottle forward, came into the game with his teammates trailing and pumped 6 field goals and four foul points through the hoop to frequently slash Sylvania's lead.

Sylvania's early margin proved to be the winning factor. The Bulbmakers went out in front, 13-5, at the end of the first period and held the lead through the second canto to leave the court at half-time a 26-15 margin.

Action was plentiful and relations strained in the third and fourth quarters. Penn Bottle consistently closed in on the Green and White cagers but each time the winners came through with a flurry of buckets to stymie the attempts. At the cessation of hostilities in the third stanza Sylvania was ahead 35-25.

The final quarter was worth the price of any full ball game. Both teams let loose with a barrage at the basket, and together, they totaled 35 markers. Sylvania took the majority, 18, while Penn Bottle got only 17, to give the local outfit a 53-42 win and a first half title.

In the preliminary, Blomquists appeared a much-improved ball club to lick Youngsville's Skating Rink, 25-15. Lineups:

Erie Tech To Battle Local Quint Friday

One of the feature basketball attractions of the entire 1945-6 scholastic cage campaign comes into the limelight this week with the appearance here Friday night of the powerful Erie Tech Centaurs, who are sparked by Joe Zuravlev, powerful, high scoring center.

The Tech attraction against Joe Massa's Dragon outfit will renew an interscholastic rivalry that for many years has been inactive.

The Centaurs, coached by Ted Robb, came here boasting the finest team in Tech history, first place in the Erie City League, and a rank of seventh in the entire state. The Technical school cagers are known as the "Mad Russians" and copped the Sharon Buhl Club post-season tournament last year.

Leading the Centaurs against the "Big Five" is 6 ft. 3 in. Joe Zuravlev, whose hardwood feats amaze all of Tech's opponents. The big center broke Erie scholastic records wide open last Saturday night when he tallied 32 points in Tech's 63-31 rout of Strong Vincent, and he scored all of his points in the first three quarters of the game.

The remainder of the Tech starting lineup includes Pete Karuba, who tips the scales at 210, and Ekimoff at guards and Dusek and Kubiak at forwards. To date, the Centaurs have dropped only three games. They lost to Aliquippa, 48-38; Sharon, 39-26; and Ashtabula, Ohio, 33-32. Tech is undefeated in league competition.

S-W Pros Vs. Hogan Leads Erie Quintet Amateurs In Here Saturday Phoenix Open

By EDDIE LEE

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 24—(P)—The tough job of selecting a favorite for the $10,000 Phoenix Open golf tournament should be settled today with more than 200 professionals and amateurs completing their rounds in the preliminary pro-amateur tourney.

Current candidate for the favorite slot is Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., who earned the rating yesterday by leading a classy foursome through an exhibition match at neighboring Encanto Park course with a two-under-par 68.

Close behind Hogan is Toney Penna, Dayton, O., pro who captured the Richmond, Calif., open last week. He posted a 69 in the foursome yesterday, the same as Jimmy Demaret, Houston, Texas, who falls into the dark horse category among the pre-tournament listings.

New York A.C. And NBA May 'Kiss, Make Up'

New York, Jan. 24—(P)—Out of the New York Boxing Writers' dinner honoring the "ames Boys" —James J. Walker and James J. Johnston—came the possibility today that the National Boxing Association and the New York State Athletic Commission are about to put on the big kiss-and-make-up scene.

This doesn't necessarily mean that all will be beer and skittles between the nation's long-feuding top two break-busting bosses. But from what Abe Greene, long-time NBA head, told the writers last night, you got the idea that the two organizations at least are about to get together on single champions for all divisions.

Greene and Eddie Eagan, New York commission chairman, had their heads together during most of last night's dinner at which Walker, father of New York boxing, received the eighth annual Edward J. Neil memorial plaque and Johnston, half-century veteran manager, was tabbed for long service to boxing. The Neil award was bestowed in memory of the Associated Press sports writer and correspondent who was killed in Spain in 1938.

John Lacy, tenant in the house, had been working with a frozen water pipe and the pipe burst allowing water to leak onto electric wiring. A short circuit resulted and fire started. The fire was soon stopped and damage was slight.
